

ABSTRACT OF THE DISCLOSURE

In a voltage regulator for a spatially remote user, an adjustable voltage supply is provided for the user along with a measuring instrument allocated to the user. A sensor line is provided for the transmission of a measured signal to a setting device which in turn controls the voltage supply.

CHI\4026625.1